'U. S. Won't Enter Shooting War'—Dulles

Begin Your 2nd Try At SKIL-WORD

Bus, Truck Hit Head-On Killing Three

Vehicles Burst Into Flames After Crash

MONROE, Mich. —UP— Three persons were killed and six others seriously injured early today in a head-on collision near here between a Greyhound bus and a truck-trailer.

Two of the dead were passengers on the bus which was en route to Detroit from Pittsburgh and the other victim was the driver of the truck. Identification of the dead and injured was not immediately available.

The accident occurred when the two vehicles collided head-on with the truck bursting into flames and setting the bus afire.

Police said the bus was carrying 24 persons. Besides the two dead, six of the bus riders were hospitalized in serious condition and the remaining 16 passengers were treated for minor injuries and released.

Bursts Into Flames

Officers said they were questioning the released passengers at the Monroe County sheriff's office in hopes of finding out how the crash occurred. They said "we're not learning much because most of these people were asleep at the time and they're still pretty shook up."

They said traffic was being re-routed around the crash area although the wreckage was "pretty well removed" from the road because of the great number of curious onlookers.

Good Evening!

The opens campaign, warns against complacency.

He'd better keep on warning for it's the biggest factor the GOP must contend with in this championship sweepstakes.

Both Mr. Eisenhower and the Republican party must remember that this year they're tangling with a couple of polished and able pros in the Messrs. Stevenson and Kefauver.

It's going to be a real fight—all the way.

We wish somebody would start fighting about that awful crater in Bath road at Laurel Bend.

It's been a horror to motorists for the past three months and absolutely nothing done to eliminate it.

Whose responsibility it is we're not sure. But whether the Bristol township commissioners or the state highway department, some pretty fast action should be forthcoming. Motorists are people, too, aren't they?

Britain and France applying the pressure on Egypt as the Suez crisis becomes more complicated.

Could be that problem will be solved without a war, little or big, but the boys on all sides had better be careful. It wouldn't take much to start a shooting match.

Braves back on top again after a close one over the Dodgers.

Only 15 more games to play and anything can still happen in this astonishing National League race. Even the Reds might bounce back.

Now that autumn is all but here, every adult should watch out for school children—especially if they're driving cars.

Advice to a discouraged bachelor: "If at first you don't succeed, try a little harder."

If you drive, be careful.

Judges Still Work On Previous Entries

Here we are again—SKIL-WORD.

The second weekly contest begins today and even before you know who won the first fascinating word-game stickler, you might as well start on the new puzzle which appears on page 2.

It will be printed again tomorrow and still again on Saturday.

Meantime, judges are still plowing their way through nearly 2,000 entries in last week's contest and the first $50 prize winner should be known before the end of the day.

The winner will be announced tomorrow, of course.

If there's only one successful contestant a $50 check will be delivered immediately.

If there should be a tie, then the prize will be divided. If no entrant gets the puzzle precisely correct, then the closest right answer will be declared the winner.

And, of course, with the winner tomorrow will be published the correct solution.

No doubt about it, SKIL-WORD is proving one of the most interesting word-game contests ever published by any newspaper anywhere.

And readers of the Courier and the Times apparently agree.

Response to last week's contest was no less than terrific. Better than 2,000 entries were received up to the Tuesday midnight deadline.

Nice thing about SKIL-WORD is that it is a game in which every member of the family may participate.

It looks simple and easy. It is simple and easy—or so it would seem. At least it's a barrel of fun with a chance to win $50.

Okay? Okay. Turn to page 2. Read the rules carefully. Then get going.

Who knows? Maybe YOU will be collecting that $50 cash.

Bricker Allowed To Drop Charges

Middletown township Justice of the Peace Frederick Holly today approved the petition of Dr. Glenn W. Bricker to withdraw his charges that Township Police Chief Howard Shook illegally accepted money. The justice imposed $14.90 in court costs upon the Levittown physician.

Storm Boils Off Florida

MIAMI —UP— A new tropical storm with winds just short of hurricane force boiled through the Atlantic 600 miles off the north Florida coast today on a course carrying it away from the U.S. mainland.

Navy hurricane hunter planes which reconnoitered Ethel during the night clocked the highest gusts at 70 miles per hour near the center, five miles below full hurricane force.

Forecaster Walter Davis at the Weather Bureau's hurricane center in Miami said "so far there has been no sign of any further development into a full-blown hurricane."

But he warned it could change its status at any time.

"Generally, the farther north a storm such as this goes, the less chance it will attain hurricane strength."

Thieves Enter Levittown Drug Store

Sun Ray Broken Into, Looted Of Money In Containers

The Sun Ray Drug store, Levittown Shopping Center was broken into early this morning and an undetermined amount of money was taken from two state sales tax boxes and a cardboard donations container for the Levittown Emergency Squad.

Tullytown Borough Police, making a routine check of the shopping center, about 2:15 a.m. heard the burglar alarm ringing and found a heavy steel grating on the sidewalk near the store removed and a window in the drug store open.

Police entered the drug store cellar, but found no one. Police said the doors of the check-cashing department had been forced open with a meat cleaver. The cleaver was found on a nearby counter.

The alarm, police said, was set off by opening a cabinet door hiding a safe. The safe was not entered, police said.

Pen Case Open

Two state sales tax boxes and a cardboard donations container for the Levittown Emergency Squad were broken open and emptied. It was not immediately known how much money was in the containers.

Police said they found a show case containing watches and fountain pens opened, but it could not be immediately determined if anything was taken.

Police questioned three employees of the near-by Penn Fruit Company, who were working late, if they saw anything "suspicious" around the drug company or heard the alarm go off. They told police that with the whir of motors and noise they were making stocking, they knew nothing of the robbery.

A service station attendant told police that he saw three cars leave the parking lot about the time of the robbery, but that it was about the time the taverns were closing, and may not mean much.

Police said that the steel grating was very heavy, indicating that more than one person could have been involved in the robbery, and that the window well was deep enough so that it would be difficult to get in and out of without assistance.

Look For Fog Again Tomorrow

It's still summertime, the weatherman pointed out in explaining the return of warm weather to Lower Bucks County. The temperature was to rise to the 80's this afternoon, and stay above 60 all night.

This morning's pea soup fog will likely repeat tomorrow, the U. S. Weather said. The haze results from cooling off of the damp air, causing the fog to thicken. When warm the air is clear.

Township Charges Laurel Bend Builders With Violating 7 Health, Housing Codes

By GORDON PARKER
Courier and Times Staff Writer

The builders of Laurel Bend Homes have been charged with seven violations of Bristol Township's health and building codes it was disclosed at last night's meeting of the township Board of Commissioners.

Frank Dorn, health officer, reported that he had sworn out warrants against Bertram Rudy, a member of the firm building the homes, during a discussion on the company's request for approval of subdivision plans for 63 new homes in the development.

Commissioner Eugene Kehoe objected to approval of the plans until "these men take care of complaints" in the older parts of Laurel Bend, which is located on Bath road, half mile east of Route 413.

Kehoe said residents of the community had complained of crumbling sidewalks as well as improper disposal of sewage.

He charged that at one time the builders pumped "raw sewage" into an open storm drainage ditch.

Sewage Dumped

Dorn disclosed that three of the warrants against the builders were on this complaint. He said that on July 3, Sept. 4 and Sept. 5 sewage had been dumped into the ditch.

The other four charges, Dorn said, were for failing to cover a huge cesspool. The health officer said he noted the cesspool was uncovered on June 30, July 4, July 15 and July 15.

The township building code requires that cesspools have a four-inch concrete cover.

The warrants, Dorn said, should be served today. He added that the violations carry a maximum fine of $100 for each offense.

Denies 'Raw Sewage'

Rudy, one of the builders, admitted that "treated and filtered" water had been pumped into the drainage ditch. He denied that it was "raw sewage."

He said that the homes are connected into the sewage lines of the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority. A temporary pump has been installed to force the sewage into the main system.

Rudy said the pump broke down "for a few hours" and that while it was being repaired "water" was pumped into the storm ditch.

Kehoe Lashes Out

A large permanent pump which has been installed should be in operation by today Rudy said. Final plans call for the installation

Southampton Joins Police Radio Net

Lower Southampton Police today tied in with the Bristol Township Police radio network, and have promised their residents 24-hour police protection.

The Bristol Township Board of Commissioners last night approved the radio hook up with Lower Southampton, the eighth municipality to join the network.

Residents of Lower Southampton may place police calls by telephoning either the local station or the Bristol Township radio from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., and by calling the Bristol Township radio office during other hours.

"This gives us around-the-clock police protection for our residents," said Chief Edward Wunsch, of Lower Southampton Police.

"We want to maintain high efficiency and are looking out for our tax payers," he added.

Lower Southampton was previously tied in with the Norristown radio, but these services were cancelled. Upper Southampton and Warminster townships were also dropped from the Norristown system, but have yet to take steps to tie in with another network.

Chief Wunsch explained that it will cost the taxpayers less to call Bristol Township, which has a Windsor telephone exchange, than to call Norristown.

He explained that two of Lower Southampton's patrol cars will be tied in by radio. "It costs $500 for the first car and $350 to hook in with the second car," he explained.

Other municipalities in the Bristol Township network are the townships of Bensalem, Middletown, Northampton and Bristol, and the boroughs of Tullytown, Pennel and Newtown.

Egypt Warns Users Plan Means War

WASHINGTON — UP — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the United States does not intend to shoot its way through the Suez Canal or enter any shooting war if Egypt tries to block the canal.

At the same time Dulles appealed to Egypt to accept the new Western-sponsored "users association" to assure freedom of navigation in the canal. Dulles called the plan a basis for "a just, yet peaceful settlement" of the Suez crisis.

Meanwhile the Egyptian ambassador warned Dulles today that the Western-proposed "users association" for the Suez Canal "is an open and flagrant aggression on Egyptian sovereignty and its implementation means war."

At his conference this morning, Dulles said there is no intention on the part of the West to impose a Suez settlement on Egypt. He said it is fantastic that anyone might think this the case. Indian Prime Minister Nehru earlier today criticized the "user association" plan as an "imposed solution" fraught with "grave consequences."

Dulles outlined the U. S. position at a press conference packed by about 175 reporters. He read a 700-word prepared statement and then answered questions.

President Eisenhower approved Dulles' statement in advance during a telephone conference from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm this morning.

Mr. Eisenhower will fly back here tomorrow to confer with Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies who headed a five-nation committee which tried vainly to sell Dulles' internationalization plan to Egypt.

Dulles told reporters, in response to questions, that the United States does not intend to try to shoot its way through the Suez Canal.

No Shooting War

He said if Egypt blocks the canal by force the United States does not intend to go into any shooting war.

He said American ships in that event would take the long way around the Cape of Good Hope at the southern tip of Africa instead of going through the Suez short cut.

He said this diversion would be more expensive, of course, but that the United States believes it would not be catastrophic.

He said it has already been decided to take some U. S. tankers out of the mothball reserve fleet to divert oil and other traffic around the continent of Africa if

Holdup Hunt Continues

Bristol Township police continued their search for two armed holdup men who robbed a couple of $60 and were foiled in another robbery attempt Tuesday night.

The robbers took the money from the general store-service station of 72-year-old A. K. Margerum, N. Radcliffe street and Grieb avenue, Edgely, despite the efforts of Margerum and his wife, Katherine, also 72.

Mrs. Margerum lectured the bandits and then screamed for help. Her husband in turn tripped and shoved one of the holdup men as they fled with the money.

In an earlier attempt two robbers, presumably the same pair, were bluffed out of $130 by Mrs. Lena Moscoff, operator of a grocery store on Magnolia road, opposite Bristol Terrace II.

Mrs. Moscoff told the pair her husband and four sons were in the back room, and the robbers fled after trying to shoot her only to have the gun fail to fire.

Police were tracking down the license number of the getaway car supplied to them by a bus driver who saw the bandits leave Margerum's store.

Injunction Served On Township

Hearing Sept. 17 On Electrical Work In Bristol Terrace I

Bristol Township was formally served with a temporary injunction, issued by the U. S. District Court, Philadelphia, yesterday, ordering it not to interfere with the work of the Bronson Electric Company.

Gilbert J. Kraus, township solicitor, said a hearing on the injunction had been set for Sept. 17 in Philadelphia.

The injunction was issued on petition of the Public Housing Administration who had contracted Bronson to make electrical alterations in the 199 homes in Bristol Terrace I, prior to their sale to individuals.

The township building officer, Howard Robinson, cited Bronson for failing to obtain building permits on 67 counts last month. A fine of $2440 was levied against Bronson by JP Earl B. Dougherty.

Bronson and the PHA maintain that no local building permit is required for government projects and the court issued the restraining order against the township on that basis.

Kraus Objects

Kraus, however, stated last night that this is not just an ordinary government project which will be maintained indefinitely by the government. "This is almost like a housing subdivision, in that these homes are being put into shape to sell to private individuals. If the government is going into the subdivision business it should meet the same requirements as other developers," Kraus said last night.

He said he felt he didn't have sufficient notice to prepare a case by Monday and would request a postponement. He added "if we can't get a postponement we will put up the best defense we can, but there is no telling what the court will rule."

Woman Fined $200 After Freak Crash

Mrs. Clarinda Hamilton, 62 Edgewater road, Yardley, was fined $200 and costs, in Bucks County Court today after she pleaded guilty to a drunk driving charge arising from a bizarre accident.

Mrs. Hamilton, a widow, who said she never drove a car before explained the incident which led to the accident at Main street and Afton avenue, Yardley, on July 30. She said she got into a car outside a Yardley hotel, started the motor and began honking the horn. She said that the automatic transmission of the car slipped into place and the car began moving.

Runs After Car
At this time Andrew Herhal, also of Edgewater road, ran out of the hotel after the car.

Herhal managed to get into the car, he explained, he tried to get Mrs. Hamilton's foot off the gas pedal, but he was unsuccessful. The woman claimed she was "petrified".

The car continued moving, went out of control, jumped a curb and smashed into another automobile at the intersection.

When Yardley police arrested Herhal and Mrs. Hamilton each claimed that they were driving the car and refused to admit the other was driving. Both were taken to court after they pleaded guilty to the drunken driving charges.

Following the testimony this morning, however, the drunk driving charges against Herhal were dropped, by the district attorney on the grounds that there was no proof against him.

Township Charges

of a second large pump, he added.

After Kehoe, who is chairman of the highway committee, said the builders "have been the biggest thorn in my side since I took office," the commissioners tabled action on the request for approval of the new plans.

Edward Wiler, president of the board, appointed a three-man committee, composed of Commissioner Kehoe, Albert H. Rodgers and James T. Dunlavy, to meet with the builders and residents to go over the complaints and problems.

A group of residents of Broadway Manor, which was built by the same men behind Laurel Bend, also aired complaints last night.

After a dispute with the residents last month, in which four women were sent to prison for a night, the builders agreed to correct all "justifiable complaints."

Last night some of the residents complained that the efforts of the builders wasn't improving the situation. One said he didn't think the work would do any good.

Promises Remedy

Rudy said the men were not finished with their project yet and promised that the situation would be corrected.

In other actions last night the commissioners: approved repairs estimated at $2300 to the township's bulldozer; voted to advertise for bids on seven "walkie talkies" for the Civil Defense Council; authorized payment of eight cents a mile to CD director Clarence Bixler, up to $200 for the rest of the year; and hired two more school crossing guards.

Charles Phillips of Venice avenue, near Bristol Terrace, complained of the "stench" from the township dump off Beaver Dam road. He said the dump is nearly filled and that the operator has been digging up refuse previously dumped to cover new loads. "This has been causing a terrible stench," Phillips said.

He suggested that the township obtain dirt fill and cover the exposed trash and offered some dirt he had on property off Route 413. The township took his offer under consideration.

3rd District Company Certified Fire Unit Lauded By Commissioner

Bristol Township Commissioner Fred Hibbs last night commended the Third District Fire Company for the speed with which they organized, purchased equipment and met township requirements for approval as an official fire fighting unit.

The commissioners certified the new fire company as an approved company last night. The certification, which went into effect immediately, entitles the company to annual contributions which the commissioners give to the other four fire companies in the township.

The company has built a fire house at Harrison and Terrace streets, off Bath road. It has also purchased a new 750 gallon pump. Even though it was not certified the company has answered at least one alarm already. The members assisted fighting a blaze which destroyed an abandoned former munitions plant near Margo Gardens.

The Third District becomes the fifth company in the township. Last year the commissioners set up five districts with each company covering a specified area.

At that time there were three companies, Croydon, Edgely and Newportville. Just recently the fourth company, Levittown Number Two, was certified.

Kiwanians Hear Near East Talk

Harold J. Gershenow, speaking at a Levittown Kiwanis Club meeting last night at Pennsbury Inn, told members of his recent stay and travels in the Near East.

Mr. Gershenow, illustrated his talk with color slides, explaining the many problems faced by citizens of Israel and the surrounding area, due to the Arabs and other conditions.

The speaker told club members of the small, untrained Jewish army that was able to hold off large numbers of invading Arab forces in the recent clashes between the two countries.

Chairman Reports

The club members also heard a report from Don McKenna, chairman of the Orange Crate Derby committee, thanking members of his group as well as other members of the club who helped make the derby a success.

Mr. McKenna estimated that not less than 300 man-hours were spent on the project, in addition to cash contributions and the purchase of T-shirts for the racers.

Harry Powell, club president, announced that the tape recording of the recently Kiwanis-sponsored forum on, "Proposed Incorporation of Levittown," is being made available to other area organizations interested in getting a clearer picture of the pros and cons of incorporation.

The tape can be secured by calling Tim Fahey, at WI 6-5052, Mr. Powell said. He told club members that the written questions asked at the discussion on incorporation, by members of the audience, will be given to panel members in the near future and the questions and answers will be published in the local paper at a later date.

Bristol Club Hears Rotary Governor Talk

Rotary Clubs in 99 countries throughout the free world are united in an endeavor to promote international understanding, good will and peace. That was the message of John E. Michael, of Swarthmore, Governor of District 266 of Rotary International, in addressing the Rotary Club of Bristol today, following a conference with local Rotary officers and committee chairmen.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 9,100 Clubs within their own communities to promote its objective, Mr. Michael explained, Rotary International has spent more than $2,000,000 in recent years through its program of student fellowships, which enable outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as Rotary ambassadors of good will. Since 1947, when this program was established, 834 Rotary Fellowships have been awarded to students in 61 countries for study in 40 countries.

"With fellowship and service to others as its keynote, Rotary provides a common ground for 431,000 business and professional executives throughout the free world, regardless of differing nationalities or political or religious beliefs," the Rotary District Governor emphasized.

"In addition to the promotion of international understanding," Mr. Michael continued, "special emphasis is being placed by Rotary Clubs in this District, which include 32 Rotary Clubs in Southeastern Pennsylvania, on youth training through their 'Tomorrow's Leaders' Camp."

Mr. Michael urged the local Rotary Club to be well represented at the Rotary District Conference to be held in Atlantic City in April and to make plans for the Club to be represented at the 48th Annual Convention of Rotary International, which will be held in Luzerne, Switzerland, next May.

Mr. Michael was introduced to the club by Gene Nichols, president of Bristol Rotary.

Water Works Inspection

Morrisville Borough Secretary Bob Steward (left), looks at part of the water works equipment at the Borough's well, prior to tests that are scheduled to be made tomorrow. Others on the inspection tour were (from left) John Sillers, engineer in charge from Albright and Friel, consulting engineers; Fred Ventree, engineer from Albright and Friel; and Walt Neumann, Morrisville Public Works Superintendent. The equipment is being inspected for the tests tomorrow to try to determine how to rid Morrisville's water supply of a high content of iron and manganese. The mineral concentrates cause clothes, and bathroom and kitchen facilities to become rust-crusted. The Borough's new well, on Fifth street, has been shut off until the rust condition can be eliminated. Water supply now is from the Delaware River and the Borough's filtration plant. Auto Sticker Law Called 'Fantastic'

PITTSBURGH — UP — The Pittsburgh Motor Club today termed "utterly fantastic and a serious threat to highway safety" a new state regulation requiring motor vehicle inspection stickers to be placed near the center of the windshield.

Lewis W. McIntyre, executive vice president, said the rule "creates a driving blind spot" which automobile engineers eliminated in the interest of safety with the wrap-around windshield.

The new regulation, which goes into effect Nov. 1, states stickers must be placed in the lower right hand corner of straight windshields and four inches to the right of the wiper cam on wrap-around windshields.

In a telegram to Gov. George M. Leader, McIntyre demanded the new regulation be "rescinded and tossed in the wastebasket where it belongs."

"I can readily foresee that pedestrians crossing streets will be struck by autos if this sticker regulation is followed starting Nov. 1. A motorist will hit a pedestrian not through any fault of his own but because his line of vision was obstructed by the sticker," he said.

Police Quiz Bristol Killer

Police questioned William R. Smith this morning about the shooting early Sunday morning in which he killed his wife, wounded her friend and then shot himself in the head.

Smith, who was admitted to the hospital in a critical condition with a .38 caliber bullet in his head, has been listed as fair for the last few days by the hospital.

But a spokesman said his wound was "critical and poses a constant danger."

Police had been waiting for Smith's condition to improve enough to permit questioning. Yesterday doctors permitted his relatives to visit him.

At the same time Mrs. Helen Songer, 28, of 271 Cleveland street, Bristol, who was shot in the back by Smith as she fled the scene of killing also continued to improve.

Bucks Firemen's School Cancelled

The association rented two rooms for its nursery classes which began classes Monday.

$100 Needed
The group needs $100 to buy 30 tons of gravel, paint and hire equipment to grade the school site.

Members of the association will spread the gravel on the site to keep it from getting muddy and enable children to play outside the building.

An apprenticeship training school for teaching adult vocations, under the direction of the Bucks County Technical School, will open at Bensalem High school, it was disclosed at last night's meeting of the Bensalem School board.

Today, George Shafer, principal of the technical school, explained that the school would be for all persons in trades and industry. He said registration would be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Summerseat, Morrisville High school.

"We hope to begin classes soon after Oct. 1," he said. The principal listed some of the courses as blue print reading, rubber technology, plastic technology, trade mathematics, salesmanship, trade science, drafting and trade theory.

Safety Program

The Bensalem directors, meeting in regular session at the high school last night, also discussed the school district's safety program.

An overall safety education program was suggested to the board members by Sidney McClain, principal of the Trevoese Elementary school. Mr. McClain called for safety education of school bus drivers, a contest to create better student interest in safety, and the coordination of safety patrols into one unit.

He also suggested that local police be asked to cooperate in the school safety program, by talking to the pupils, among other things.

Mr. McClain gave his suggestions in a teachers' report on the district safety setup. Other instructors told of the various safety education methods used in the classrooms.

Bensalem's school directors discussed the purchase of a tractor with snow plow and grass mower. They heard a Bushek company representative explain the latest in plowing and mowing equipment.

Committee on Taxes

Board members also set up a committee to investigate abatement of real estate taxes on the property of Joseph A. Ward, Shady Rest Lakes, Cranberry Hills, Bensalem.

Mr. Ward, who operates a sportsmen's club, asked that his taxes be abated because of his losses in the flood of August 1955. Mr. Ward's property is along the Neshaminy Creek. The board indicated that his taxes would be reduced to some extent.

Louis and Josephine Ludwick, of Creek road, Newportville, also requested information on the abatement of taxes due to flooding.

The school board moved to pay an additional two per cent occupational hazard insurance, which would extend coverage. The increase will be added to yearly premiums of about $600.

Employee Hurt In Auto Crash

A Fairless Steel Works employee had to stop at the plant dispensary for a check-up this morning, after the car in which he was riding to work bumped with another vehicle in the thick fog.

Falls township police said the man, Stanley Heppie, 37, of Davisville, did not appear to be badly injured. Heppie was riding in a car driven by William Schatz, 36, of 1 Victoria road, Hatboro.

Patrolman Lawrence Nolan said Schatz, driving east on Tyburn road, told him he had stopped in a line of traffic near the steel mill overpass, and saw a car driven by William R. Carolus, 40, of 206 Brentwood road, Fairless Hills, approach from the rear.

Schatz said he tried to switch lanes to avoid a crash but was not successful. Police said car damage was not extensive. No charges were preferred.

Dulles said this country will join the proposed "users association" if Britain and France are its only partners. He hoped it will be moving west toward organization next week.

Dulles said that the United States has reason to be confident that at least some other nations besides the United States, Britain and France will join the new association.

However, he indicated these other partners may be few. He pointed out that only five countries—Britain, the United States, France, Italy and Norway—control 75 per cent of the shipping using the Suez Canal.

Dulles' statement was designed to clear up reported "confusion" in foreign capitals over the U.S. position on the "users association" plan which was announced in the British Parliament Wednesday by Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden,
